

HOLDER WON'T GET NEW TERM, GOVERNOR SAYS

Answers Requested Re-appointment of Highway Chairman Presented by Four Senators.

SAYS BALLOT BOX SETTLED QUESTION

Hardman Declares Political Friction of Past Should Be Forgotten for Good of State.

Governor L. G. Hardman will not reappoint John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, to succeed himself at the end of his present term, nor will he appoint Mr. Holder to a position on the highway board if it is reorganized under bills to be presented to the legislature, the governor declared Friday in a letter sent to members of the state senate who recently addressed a letter to the governor recommending the reappointment of Holder.

"The question of reorganizing the state highway department and reappointing Honorable John N. Holder, a chairman was plainly, emphatically and decidedly discussed on the platform and in the press during the recent campaign and the people, through their ballot, expressed in unmistakable terms their desire for this reorganization and for a new head for this department," Governor Hardman said.

The letter was addressed "To the senators signing a petition asking for the reappointment of Honorable John N. Holder as chairman of the state highway board of Georgia." The names of these senators were not made public by the governor. The petition was presented to the governor by Senators Myrick, Elders, Lewis and Richards. It was claimed at the time that 32 senators had signed the petition.

Governor Hardman said he would enter into no newspaper controversy over the matter. He said it was his desire that the political friction of the last three years become a matter of the past and it was also his desire that the members of the house and senate would unite in bringing to Georgia the most modern and constructive measures that knowledge and experience can bring to reorganize this department.

Following is the letter sent the senators Friday by Governor Hardman:

Governor's Letter.

"Your communication was handed me by the executive secretary on July 14. Recognizing your ability, your loyalty and your good wishes, and with courtesy and good will, I present to you the following communication:

"Georgia is a democratic state, and the highest authority is in the sovereign will of the people, expressed in an untrammelled and free ballot. During the recent campaign, the question of reorganizing the state highway department and reappointing the Honorable John N. Holder as its chairman was plainly, emphatically and decidedly discussed on platform and in the press; and the people through their ballot expressed in unmistakable terms their desire for reorganization and for a new head of this department.

"I recognize your loyalty to your friend; but I must also recognize my responsibility and loyalty to the citizens of this commonwealth and to their will as expressed through the ballot. The chief executive of the state of Georgia also expresses his appreciation of the confidence of the senators in the statement of their belief that this appointment would eliminate political parties; yet they must recognize that the very basis of this movement is to continue the political factions and discord that have existed in Georgia.

To Eliminate Politics.

"It is the desire of the chief executive of the state of Georgia to eliminate, as far as it is possible to do so, the elements of party and political factions and to give to Georgia a constructive business administration that will provide, in the hands of the department appointed by the chief executive, trained business men in their respective lines. The chief executive of the state of Georgia believes this could not be done for her reappointment of officials who are not educated and trained in the department.

Ambassadors Ask Troops as Vienna Is Swept by Mobs

Between 40 and 80 Are Dead and 500 Wounded in Uprising, According to Latest Reports.

COMMUNISTS FIGHT POLICE AND TROOPS

Riots Threaten To Turn Austria Into Soviet Republic—State of Siege Is Proclaimed.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Bartislava, Czechoslovakia, July 15.—Between forty and eighty dead and 500 wounded were reported in the Vienna uprising when the Tribune correspondent left by automobile for Czechoslovakia, while the communists swept the city and were threatening to spread to Hungary. Passing through the country, I found that the government had proclaimed a state of siege in every city and was endeavoring to draw thousands of troops to Vienna to reorganize the police.

The labor unions proclaimed a general strike at 7 o'clock tonight. Every street car, automobile, trolley, newspaper and factory is stopped. In Vienna machine guns are shooting almost every hour.

Americans in Panic.

Hundreds of Americans who are in Austria at the height of the tourist season, are rushing to leave the country. American Minister Albert Henry Washburn tonight conferred with Premier Seipel. He believed a crisis had been reached and has taken measures to protect the Americans.

In the streets of Vienna the mobs have created barricades and the police put up barriers. The police stormed the barricades of the mobs and the mobs stormed the barriers of the police. Terrible confusion reigns.

When I felt Vienna machine guns were firing from the parliamentary building and ambulances were dashing about wildly. The fire from the palace of justice lit up the whole city with pillars of flame. At 10 o'clock tonight the roof collapsed with a terrific crash.

Communists Control.

Communist agitators are in full control of the masses. They had been called out by the socialists who planned a quiet protest meeting but they lost control to the communists who staged the clashes with the police and used them to excite the red hot anger of the police. Workers who remained in the workshops were dragged out by the communists and threatened with death if they refused to follow the reds.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock the rail men tried to start a train to Budapest. The communists heard it, dragged the engineer from the engine, hurled stones at the rail men and passengers and demolished the engines.

FOREIGN AMBASSADORS CALL FOR TROOPS.

BY GEORGE SELDES.
(Copyright, 1927, for The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Vienna, July 15.—Foreign ambassadors and ministers have asked permission of the Austrian government to send troops to Vienna.

This became known Friday night when it was learned that a tract of land owned by the county and adjacent to Fulton county courthouse which the city must acquire in order to place the city hall on a site adjacent to the courthouse may be held at what is termed "prohibitive" terms.

Options on all the property needed already have been acquired by the city with the single exception of the county property and about 53 feet on Central avenue. Preliminary drawings are now being sketched and other formalities incident to construction are being pushed by the city hall committee headed by Councilman Willie Moore and members of the bond commission.

The only possible hitch will be faced today when Commissioners Charles Turner and Walter Stewart meet with the city hall and bond commission bodies. It is believed that the county will ask the total figure which the tract cost several years

5 MEN FREED IN FLOGGING CASE AT TOCCOA

Quick Verdict Given in Trial of Defendants Charged With Beating Farmer.

ACREE TO RECEIVE SENTENCE TODAY

Elmer Clark Gets Mistrial in Bowers Whipping After Jurymen Fail To Agree.

BY BEN COOPER, Staff Correspondent.

Toccoa, Ga., July 15.—Reaching a verdict after deliberating less than 30 minutes, the jury in the case of five men charged with having flogged Bart Singleton, a farmer here, on March 11, returned a verdict of not guilty tonight.

The men on trial here in Stephens superior court since Thursday morning on a charge of assault with intent to murder were W. G. Acree, who was convicted last week of participating in the whipping of Mrs. Ansley Bowers, Mose Jordan, Hendrix Wiley, J. S. Aderholt and Bert Lowry.

The jury which freed the five men was composed of J. W. Gilbert, J. R. Crump, W. J. Finley, J. F. Smith, J. D. Keller, Ellis Cox, E. H. Edwards, E. D. Davis, O. C. Bailey, L. H. Scott, S. L. Thomas and H. F. Sayers.

Evidence in the case ended this afternoon and after arguments by the attorneys and the charge by Judge I. H. Sutton, the jurymen received the case at 10 o'clock and before 10:30 the verdict had been rendered.

The Singleton verdict of acquittal followed the mistrial declared earlier in the day in the case of Elmer Clark, tried on a charge of having participated in the flogging of Mrs. Bowers and her son, Lloyd, on June 11. The Clark jury had been out since Wednesday. It was rumored that the Clark jury stood nine to three for conviction.

It was stated tonight that the other three men, Claud Groover, Charlie Thomas and T. R. Lowry, indicted jointly with Acree and Clark in the Bowers flogging will not be placed on trial until the October term of court here, due, it is said, to the fact that the court officials are to open superior court in Gainesville Monday.

To Sentence Acree.

Judge Sutton announced tonight that sentence would be pronounced upon W. G. Acree Saturday morning in the Bowers case.

Five additional jurors were quickly selected this morning in the Singleton case and the jurymen were sworn in. Thursday, filled the jury box. Trial of the case then got under way with Singleton, the prosecutor as the only witness introduced by the state.

In the simple vocabulary of a country farmer, Singleton, attired in tan slacks, dark trousers and a light-colored shirt, narrated to the jury the awful story of how he received such a severe flogging that large scars remain on his back and hips. Singleton testified that he recognized all five defendants as follows: W. G. Acree, by his face, voice, walk and build; Mose Jordan, Bart Lowry, Hendrix Wiley and James S. Aderholt, by their voice, walk and build. He had known all of the defendants well for a long period of time, he stated.

Called From Home.

Singleton told the jury that between 11 and 12 o'clock on the night of

AMERICAN AVIATORS LAND ON HAWAII'S LEPER ISLAND WHEN SUPPLY OF GAS FAILS

JONES RETAINS BRITISH OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP

Total Score of 285 Puts Atlantian Six Strokes Ahead of Great Field at St. Andrews.

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 15.—(AP)—Robert Tyne Jones, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., today did more than win the open golf championship of Great Britain for the second time in two years. He used a record-shattering score of 285 strokes for 72 holes as a match to fire the enthusiasm of thousands of spectators and would-be spectators as this shrine of golf has not seen in the memory of the oldest inhabitant.

His 285, representing four rounds in which he was never over par and held even with it only once, placed him six full strokes ahead of the next contestants and cut the same number of strokes from the record for the British open, which Bobby himself equaled last year at St. Anne's. The mark of 291, set by James Braid, had stood steadfast against the assaults of great golfers since 1908. The record score was also a stroke under the mark for the American open, made by "Chick" Evans in 1916.

Bobby tonight shared another record with the veteran Braid. Only the 37-year-old British pro and the 24-year-old American amateur have won the championship two years in a row. Braid did it more than 20 years ago.

Two Tied for Second.

Aubrey Boomer and Fred Robson, British pros, were tied for second place at 291. Their accomplishment in equalling the old record would have created much excitement under ordinary circumstances.

Today their performances were hardly noticed. Joe Kirkwood, the converted Australian, another galloping Georgian, planted the colors of Albany near those of Atlanta by scoring 293 and going into a tie with Ernest Whitcomb for fourth place. Jim Barnes never quite reached his game and finished with 301. Tom Stevenson, Los Angeles, had 302 and Walter Kennerly, Palma Ceia, Fla., needed 306.

If anything was needed to supplement a pair of 72 and sub-par 72 in his last two rounds to make Bobby Jones immortal in golf in Scotland, the land of golfers, he supplied that one thing when the cup was presented. Privately he sealed his popularity in this country for all time, he announced this evening that he would leave the trophy in the custody of the Royal and Ancient Golf Club.

Thousands Jam Course.

The announcement was made before a crowd of several thousand persons jammed the spacious St. Andrews eighteen green and terraces around the drah old stone pile, which houses the potentates of the royal and ancient game, awaiting the presentation ceremony. It started the second great ovation of the day for Jones.

Hats were soaring in the air and fathers hoisted children to their shoulders.

Cheering Thousands Greet Fliers at Wheeler Field

ARMY FIELD GUNS ROAR SALUTE FOR ACES

Honolulu, July 15.—(AP)—Ernest L. Smith and Emory B. Bronte, California fliers, who left Oakland, Calif., Thursday morning for a flight to Hawaii, arrived at Wheeler field, 25 miles from Honolulu, at 3:57 p. m. Honolulu time (6:27 p. m., Pacific time), today, as passengers aboard army planes.

They were taken off the island of Molokai, 60 miles southeast of Honolulu, after their monoplane was forced to land for lack of gasoline.

The 12 army planes flew over Honolulu in formation at 3:30 p. m., Honolulu time, and a few minutes later swung onto Wheeler field before thousands of cheering spectators.

Army Sends Planes.

The army had sent out a squadron of planes to greet the civilian fliers as they neared Diamond Head from Molokai in the planes of their army hosts.

The Wheeler field guns roared a salute for the fliers as Smith and Bronte stepped from the army planes. Smith cried a joyous shout "Well, here we are."

Bronte jumped out of the plane that brought him to the field and, running over to his partner, Smith, shook hands with him. The two fliers clapped each other on the back as they stood together.

Smith immediately explained the messages asking assistance were sent "because it appeared at that time that our gasoline supply might give out and we were taking no chances."

Gasoline Exhausted.

Smith added, however, that they flew to Molokai successfully, exhausting their gasoline just as they reached land.

"We cracked up there because we didn't have another drop of gas," Smith said.

Both men declared they were feeling fine although they manifested weariness and had been burning from the flight. Scores of well wishers bade the fliers adieu.

PLANE IS WRECKED, BUT DARING FLIERS ESCAPE UNINURED

Air Mail Pilots Complete Their Trip While Steamers Are Rushing to Their Rescue.

AIRPLANE CRASHES INTO TREE CLUMP

Smith and Bronte Leave Behind Them String of S. O. S.'s as Gas Supply Nears End.

BY H. R. EKINS.
(Honolulu, July 15.—(United News.)

While steamers rushed to their rescue, Ernest L. Smith and Emory Bronte, who had completed safely the civilian flight from San Francisco bay to Hawaii.

Their monoplane, the "City of Oakland," landed in a clump of trees on the edge of Molokai after completely exhausting its supply of gasoline while still flying over the blue waters of the Pacific.

The landing, which wrecked the plane, was an amazing triumph for Smith, the former air-mail man, who in the pilot seat and negotiated the treacherous descent.

Lays S. O. S. Trail.

The aviators had left behind them a trail of "S. O. S." signals which they had begun sending out when they first discovered that their gasoline supply was running low in the early hours this morning. The landing was made at 9:35 a. m., Honolulu time.

It was a dramatic flight in all its aspects. The fliers were fighting against fog for part of the way across the ocean, and then had to fight against the possibility of falling into the sea. Some of their messages had said that they actually were preparing to make a forced landing on water and to risk their lives to the rubber lifeboat which they had taken along.

Fortunately for them, when the gasoline supply did give out, they were nearing Molokai, the leper island.

The monoplane glided to land a short distance from the water's edge. A safe landing was impossible due to the heavy growth of kiawe bushes. The plane's fuselage was tangled in the growth and was smashed.

Smith Is Scratched.

Smith and Bronte, who had done such a marvelous job in getting the plane to the dot of islands in the Pacific, an incredibly small target, was unscathed. Judge Edward McCarrison, the United News correspondent and the district magistrate, one of the first on the scene, took them to his home for a rest.

"Everything was running perfectly during the flight," was one of Smith's first comments.

Things couldn't have been any better, except for the landing.

The flight was completed in 25 hours and 26 minutes, which is 23 minutes faster than the time of Lieutenants Mendenhall and Hagerberger, who blazed the air trail to Honolulu two weeks ago. Smith and Bronte took off from Oakland airport on San Francisco bay at 10:30 a. m. Thursday. The landing time corresponded with 12:05 p. m., Pacific coast time.

The men had landed on a barren

Council May Be Forced To Seek New Location If County Figures Are Prohibitive.

Possibility that the city may be forced to seek another location for constructing the new city hall was seen Friday on the eve of a meeting at 10:30 o'clock this morning of a joint committee from Fulton county commissioners, a special city hall committee from council and members of the Atlanta bond commission.

OSIUS IS GUILTY IN AUTO KILLING

Extreme Clemency Recommended for Miami Beach Inventor Who Was Driving Death Car.

Miami, Fla., July 15.—(United News.)—Fred Osius, 48, Miami Beach inventor, formerly of Racine, Wis., today was found guilty of manslaughter for the deaths of Mrs. Bain Miller and her 6-year-old son, Marvin.

The jury returned a verdict with a recommendation of extreme clemency at 5 p. m.

Judge Tom Norfleet directed that Osius present bond stand until 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when sentence would be passed.

Bart Riley, of defense counsel, announced a motion for an appeal might be filed.

Osius was charged with manslaughter on two counts, reckless driving and operating an automobile while under influence of liquor, in connection with the drowning June 27 of Mrs. Miller and Marvin when an automobile the inventor was driving plunged into Biscayne bay.

The charge of driving while intoxicated was dismissed at direction of Judge Norfleet at this morning's session when it became apparent that the state could not prove its charges.

This became apparent when Dr. Marvin H. Smith, a specialist, testified that sea water swallowed by Osius after the accident could have formed chlorine gas which easily could have been mistaken for a liquor smell.

Osius himself took the stand today and denied emphatically that he had been drinking. He asserted that he was not driving faster than 35 miles an hour and did everything possible to avert the accident.

Wife Keeps Chamberlin Safe Amid Perils of Sea

S. S. Leviathan, July 15.—(AP)—Trans-Atlantic aviation heroes are not exempt from the attention of "mash-note" writers, as is evidenced by the letters received by the five American airmen aboard the Leviathan.

Clarence Chamberlin, aviator, who alone is accompanied by his wife, apparently is the only one willing to disclose the fact that "my missives of this sort have been received."

It was Chamberlin who, while in the war and then unmarried, had an English sweetheart to whom ten years ago he wrote often. When Chamberlin sprang into prominence recently as the result of his flight from Am. to Germany, the English maiden, whom he had perhaps forgotten, conjured up a lecture of the romance of his return by airplane. Her dream of a renewal of the friendship, and even the possibility of delayed matrimony was shattered, however, when she read a few days later that Chamberlin's wife had embarked for Europe to accompany her successful husband home.

Just before flying on the Leviathan

Chamberlin was astonished to receive from the English girl a package containing his letters of a decade ago. They were returned to him "with fond regrets."

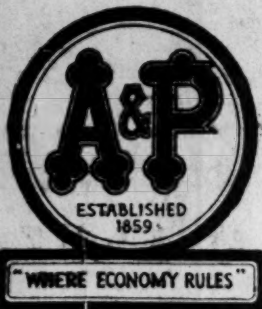

Lieutenant Bert Balchen, the fair-haired, blue-eyed Norseman, who handled the controls when Commander Byrd's plane alighted in France, asserts with pride that he alone is entitled to receive missives from the lovers, since he is the only aviator aboard the plane who is unmarried. He has safeguarded himself, however, with "But I'm off to the so pole shortly with Byrd and we can't receive any mail there."

Aviators Noville, Acosta and Balchen proudly exhibited today a dozen good luck mementoes which devoted friends asked them to carry on their flight and which the airmen are now returning to the donors. The souvenirs range from a Hindu lucky piece to a girl's ring and locks of hair. A detailed examination, however, failed to reveal the expected rabbit's foot.

Chamberlin, who is credited with having received a gift of three kegs of beer and a case of old wine, wished it announced that the same had been left in Germany upon his departure for dry America.

Public Health Work Reaching Rural Areas, Conference Is Told

Emory University, Ga., July 15.—(Special.)—That the great problem in public health work is reaching the rural counties with adequate service was brought out at the Friday morning session of the conference on public health at Emory university. "Rich urban counties are perfectly able to employ health officials and nurses," said Dr. M. E. Winchester, director of county health work for the Georgia department of health, "but the counties with little tax valuation, comprising over half of the counties in the southeastern states, are already so overburdened with governmental expenses that they cannot find the funds for adequate public health service. He illustrated this fact with charts showing that of the 145 counties with organized health units in the south-eastern states 125 had high tax values and high per capita income. Remedies suggested and discussed included special aid for the poor counties from state funds, combinations of counties such as that proposed now by Fulton, Campbell and Clayton counties, and the grouping of several counties in one sanitary health district.

During Friday afternoon Miss Etienne Baldwin, of the American Association of Visiting Teachers, led a discussion of the relations between public health and social work. The newer developments in preventive medicine and mental hygiene have emphasized the importance of careful social investigation and family service both in diagnosis and treatment of disease, and the doctor and nurse are coming to value highly the cooperation of trained social workers.

The conference adjourned after the afternoon session.

After all, getting married in an aeroplane only adds one more risk to the business.

SOUTHERN COAL RATE DECISION IS DEFERRED

Charleston, W. Va., July 15.—(AP)—Hopes of southern West Virginia coal operators and those in adjacent fields that southern railroads voluntarily would give them rate reductions to compensate them for those granted by the interstate commerce commission to northern fields again has been deferred. A statement today by the shippers' committee indicated that in reporting that after a meeting of executives of the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and Louisville & Nashville railroads, "we are advised no statement can be made about the rate cargo case at this time."

The statement added that "it now looks as though we would probably not get definite advice as to their action, for about ten days or two weeks." The statement expressed the belief that the attitude of the officials of the carriers was one of cooperation and helpfulness, giving operators "every possible consideration" and concluded:

"We don't want the operators or the public to feel that this fight is won, for even if our carriers should accept the reduction of 20 cents per ton ordered by the commission from the northern fields tariffs will then have to be filed before the interstate commerce commission and it is possible that they may be suspended, and if they are suspended it will probably be several months before the matter is finally determined."

FIVE MEN FREED
BY TOCCOA JURY

March 10 he heard Acree call to him from the road in front of his house. He went to the door and was grabbed by white-robed and hooded men and rushed to an automobile without further ado. Lowry and Jordan, he said, were behind him, pushing him along. Singleton said he was carried to Liberty Hill church, near the scene of the flogging and after being laid face down, a whip was applied to his back. Resting between whippings twice, the floggers accused him of selling whisky to a minor, he said.

"Mr. Acree said, 'You ain't talking right to me,' Singleton said, 'and then they whipped me twice more.' Acree told me that he was not coming to meetings and of not sending any word to Sunday school, stating that he would have to come to meetings and bring the boy to Sunday school, Singleton said. Jordan, Lowry, and Acree were at the house, while Wiley was waiting with two others at the church, he said.

Singleton said he lived on the Liberty Hill road about two miles from Toccoa and that the whipping took place at the end of the graveyard at Liberty Hill church. There were 15 men in the party all together at the church, he said. They rode in three cars, one a sedan, another a coupe and the third a touring car. He said that the touring car belonging to and driven by Acree's brother, Acree's sedan was well known to him, as he had seen it on numerous occasions with Acree at the wheel, and it was the only one in the county that he had ever seen with yellow wheels, he said. Singleton added that he has seen Acree since in this car, as late as the present week.

Acree took his hood off when the whipping was over and placed it backward over Singleton's head, Singleton catching a view of Acree's face, he said. The floggers then carried him, thus blindfolded to within a short distance of his home and turned him loose with the threat that if he looked back or told who whipped him that they would shoot him. He said that he was afraid to tell for he did, the floggers had threatened to burn and kill him. Furthermore, he was afraid to swear out the warrants until some time passed, he said.

Wife Dressed Wounds.
On his return home his wife gave him first-aid and pulled bits of his nightgown out of the wounds, as the gown was bent to bits, he said. His wife and sister-in-law dressed the wounds and a physician examined them the next day.

At this point Singleton was called upon to exhibit his scars to the jury. Solicitor General Robert McMillan, pointing out the scars resulting from the wounds, Singleton has not fully recovered yet, as he still has trouble with his hip and he could not work any more, he said.

Jordan's statement was very short. He merely confirmed testimony of defense witnesses regarding his presence at the flogging on the night of March 10, admitted that he knew Bart Singleton, but denied knowing anything of the crime.

Bart Lowry said that he had known Singleton a long time, but had nothing to do with the whipping. He was home with his wife on the night of March 10 and on every other night. He said that he is 35 years old and was raised in Stephens county. This is his first experience in court and his first arrest, he said.

The defense rested when Lowry left the stand and rebuttal commenced. In rebuttal the state attempted to put Acree's character in issue, on the ground that the defense had introduced character witnesses into the trial, though none for Acree. C. H. Baldwin, of Morgan county, Acree's original home, was called to the stand, but the defense objected when the state asked a question concerning Acree's character. Judge Sutton sustained the objection.

After 30 minutes of rebuttal evidence the argument began.

for three weeks after the flogging, he testified.

He said under cross-examination by the defense that he did not tell Dr. J. E. Terrell, the examining physician, M. C. Kelly, Tom Wiley, Ode Holcomb, D. G. Pruitt or J. O. White that he did not know who whipped him. He did not tell Pruitt that the men were without robes or hood, he said.

Following the exhibit of a strap which Singleton said was similar to the one with which he was whipped, and his statement that in his opinion it was likely to produce death, the state rested.

The defense opened its case with an effort to prove that Singleton told a number of witnesses that he did not know who whipped him. M. C. Kelly was the first on the stand for the defense. Realizing that he talked with Singleton on June 6 and that Singleton said that he "could not personate anyone," defense counsel asked Kelly what Singleton meant by "personate," but Judge Sutton sustained objection by the defense.

Klan Mentioned.
Ode Holcomb testified that he asked Singleton who flogged him and that the farmer replied "the Ku Klux Klans." Singleton told him that he believed that J. T. Anselmy was in on the flogging because the floggers accused him of selling whisky to Anselmy's minor child, Holcomb said. Holcomb admitted that he is the father-in-law of Bart Lowry, a defendant.

He said that the man Anselmy is "no more of a Ku Klux than I am." Asked how he knew this, he said that Anselmy and he had discussed the organization and Anselmy told him he was not a member. He denied that he himself belonged to the K. K. K. A private witness was introduced by the defense in an effort to prove that Singleton had stated on a number of occasions that he did not know who flogged him. Much evidence was also given to establish alibis for the defendants after which each defendant made a statement to the jury in his own behalf.

Acree was on the stand first. He gave a short history of his life, stating that he has been in Stephens county four and a half years. He claimed that he was candleing eggs at the time of the flogging, and that the flogging was alleged to have occurred. Acree knows Singleton, but has not known him as long as Singleton claims he knew him, he said. He has never known Singleton very well, he said.

Denies Part in Whipping.
Acree claimed that he had nothing at all to do with the whipping, that he knew nothing about Singleton's character, though he admitted that he had heard rumors about the man. "But I didn't care anything about Singleton's character," he asserted.

Wiley took the stand next, stating that he had acquaintance with Singleton had been limited, and that he had nothing against Singleton. "I never had a conversation with Singleton until a week ago Wednesday," he said. "I know absolutely nothing about this case. Any man in the county who knows me knows that I would not be guilty of such a crime." He supported Acree's story of the egg candleing.

Aderholdt began with the statement, "I am innocent of the crime charged against me. I was not present at any flogging. I have never been angry enough at anyone to make such an assault upon him. If I were going to flog anyone, I wouldn't take him to my church door, because I have more respect for my church. I never told anyone they had to go to church. I realize that the laws of our country are not intended to make anybody go to church. I might beg a person to attend Sunday school, but I never have told anybody to do so. I have never owned or carried a pistol. I have no use for one."

Was at Home.
"I have a wife and two little girls. I was at home with them on the night of March 10 and on every other night. I make no excuse or apologies for that. I have no way of proving this statement unless the court would allow me to take the stand. I am 50 years old and have never been accused of crime before. I have tried to live a life above reproach and have never stooped to any dirty work."

Jordan's statement was very short. He merely confirmed testimony of defense witnesses regarding his presence at the flogging on the night of March 10, admitted that he knew Bart Singleton, but denied knowing anything of the crime.

Bart Lowry said that he had known Singleton a long time, but had nothing to do with the whipping. He was home with his wife on the night of March 10 and on every other night. He said that he is 35 years old and was raised in Stephens county. This is his first experience in court and his first arrest, he said.

The defense rested when Lowry left the stand and rebuttal commenced. In rebuttal the state attempted to put Acree's character in issue, on the ground that the defense had introduced character witnesses into the trial, though none for Acree. C. H. Baldwin, of Morgan county, Acree's original home, was called to the stand, but the defense objected when the state asked a question concerning Acree's character. Judge Sutton sustained the objection.

After 30 minutes of rebuttal evidence the argument began.

CHEERING THOUSANDS WELCOME AVIATORS

welcome. Smith's mind mostly was on the plane.

"I'm going to hoist the motor out of the plane that lies over on Molokai island and take it back with me. The rest of the ship is a wreck," said Smith.

Smith was nearly mobbed trying to reach the reviewing stand where Major Henry Miller, commander of Wheeler field, and other notables had decked the fliers with flags. Smith took a moment from the formal reception to explain that much of his trouble was caused by his casual indicator not working properly.

First Land Seen.
No water was seen on the trip until 8:30 o'clock this morning. The first land that they saw was a mountain top on Hawaii.

"Land looked mighty good to us," said Smith. "We didn't know what moment our gas would give out." "I was hard to have the ship wrecked after it had carried us so far, but we'll never be able to fly her again. She is too badly wrecked to rebuild or salvage. We are going back to Molokai to salvage the motor if we can."

Smith brought a number of letters and papers. After posing for pictures the fliers were driven to the Royal Hawaiian hotel, where they will be guests during their stay in Honolulu.

Smith presented a silk American flag to representatives of the Honolulu Chamber of Commerce as a gift from Oakland Chamber of Commerce. Smith repeated several times, while accepting congratulations, "The trip was mighty well worth while in every way."

Credit to Bronte.
Later Smith put his arm around Bronte, saying, "I want to say right here that all the credit for this flight should go to Bronte."

"He kept us on our course and plotted our route around," continued Smith.

Bronte denied this with a smile, but Smith insisted that he spoke the truth. Speaking of the flight, ending Smith said, "We were exactly 24 hours in the air when we sighted Molokai and we realized that our gasoling supply was exhausted."

Smith declared they had not had the slightest sign of motor trouble and their only worries had been fog and lack of gasoling. The fliers' ending beacon worked satisfactorily from the first 180 miles from Oakland when the receiving set refused to function properly. He said they both were busy every minute during the flight.

The gas faltered for a moment, that being the time when the first call for aid was sent.

part of the island, removed from the guarded leper colony. Residents of the island were astounded and recognized neither plane nor fliers.

Greeted by Judge.
After Smith and Bronte had been aided from the tangle of fuselage and brush, Judge McCorrison greeted them. "The ship behaved perfectly throughout the flight," Smith said, continuing his story of the hazardous journey.

"We had a hard time, but we stuck head winds all the way, using up more gas than we had counted on. It was foggy during the daylight hours and we never saw the surface of the sea from the time we left San Francisco bay."

HENRY WHITE DIES, FUNERAL SUNDAY

Pittsfield, Mass., July 15.—(AP)—Henry White, diplomat and American delegate to the Versailles peace conference, died at his summer home at Lenox early today. Funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon in Trinity Episcopal church in Lenox. The funeral will be private.

Draining of Everglades Is Debated by Governor And Trade Board Leader

Audience of 5,000 in St. Petersburg, Fla., Hear Merits of Plan Thoroughly Discussed.

St. Petersburg, Fla., July 15.—(AP) The question of Everglades drainage through the $20,000,000 bond issue provided for by the last Florida legislature was discussed here tonight before a crowd estimated at 5,000 persons by Governor John W. Martin and Herman A. Dunn, president of the state chamber of commerce.

Debate centered around the constitutionality of the act, the price of bonds would bring, the advisability of the drainage project, and also went into numerous side issues.

The meeting lasted nearly four hours, Governor Martin using an hour and fifty-five minutes to present his defense of the administration drainage plan which was assailed by Mr. Dunn as unconstitutional, tending to incur an indebtedness for which the state would be responsible, covered with secrecy, and many other faults. The governor spoke first.

Assails Price of Bonds. Governor Martin arranged with New York bond houses for the disposal of $10,000,000 of the issue, the rest of the bonds to be sold later. Mr. Dunn asserted that they had been sold too cheaply. He estimated the price around 91. To this the governor responded that the bonds had been arranged to bring 55-58 per cent to the purchasers, that they were 5 per cent bonds. He said they would bring the cheapest money ever obtained for a drainage project.

The governor stated that the bonds in no way constituted a state obligation, that they were backed solely by the land to be drained from which an ad valorem tax as well as a drainage tax would be collected. Mr. Dunn contended that the state ultimately might be under moral or legal obligation to make good the issue by buying Everglades land for taxes or by appropriation of the legislature which might be necessary.

Bonds Not Yet Sold. The governor said the bonds had not been sold yet, could not be sold until the courts have passed upon their validity. In answering a question he said Mr. Dunn had asked him in a letter.

After the governor had related that three experts had made a survey of the Everglades situation within the last 30 days and reported that the administration plan was correct, Mr. Dunn asked if a real dirt farmer survey had been made of the situation, quoting figures to show that large acreage of land already drained were not being cultivated.

Governor Martin declared that not only was the issue not a state obligation but that words to that effect would be printed on the face of the bonds. Both he and Mr. Dunn quoted the section of the state constitution which forbids bonds being issued by the state except in case of rebellion or invasion.

"It is an obligation of the state of Florida to drain the Everglades," declared the governor, "because of the act of 1850 by which the United States granted the greatest part of the territory to the state."

"But," he continued, "the question of reclamation was settled 24 years ago when the people elected former Governor N. B. Broward on a reclamation platform." He said he was only carrying out his duty as governor in trying to devise a method for continuing the work which he said had been stopped because of lack of funds.

The governor remarked that only five representatives and one senator voted against the administration plan. A portion of the governor's speech was taken up with replies to criticisms which he said had been made by United States Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, whom he accused of having never obtained anything for the Everglades in congress except some surveys.

"We have had too many surveys, what we need is more action," declared the governor.

Taking the speaker's stand for an hour, Mr. Dunn arraigned the bond bill, saying he agreed with the governor that the Everglades problem should be solved, but questioned the solution which had been offered.

No Man's Land. "The governor, as usual, has stated all the facts he cares for you to know," said the state chamber leader. "But there still is a no man's land which I shall enter."

"The only thing the governor has said about the price of the bonds is that they will be sold to yield 55-58 per cent. He does not say how much they brought."

"I would like to ask the governor whether any legal expenses were connected with this bill," said Mr. Dunn, who then asserted that "it might be that this bill is to be absorbed in the nine-point loss."

Asserting that the issue brought taxation without representation to the people of the Everglades, Mr. Dunn remarked that the Boston tea party, saying that "it is conceivable that such a party in the Everglades might take the form of a rebellion and the legislature find itself with a residue of state bonds."

"There is need for light and yet more light," said Mr. Dunn, as he needed his concluding remarks.

Rounds of applause punctuated the address of both speakers.

AMBASSADORS ASK TROOPS IN VIENNA

to send troops from neighboring states into Vienna to suppress a communist uprising, which is threatening to turn Austria into a soviet republic.

The city of Vienna tonight is smothered with bloodshed. The revolutionary outburst began at dawn. At noon 50,000 persons fled machine gun fire, and the dead were estimated at 30 and the injured at more than 100. Half a million people went cowed and fearful to bed.

Court Verdict Is Cause. The uprising followed the decision of the law courts last night freeing three persons accused of murder in Schaitendorf in Burgenland, on the Hungarian border. There in January, a labor parole was fired on from a window. One crippled veteran and one child were killed, and five persons were wounded. Three men, acknowledged assassins, were freed. They admitted the murder but the court hearing was so conducted that the jurors had to agree to the judge's request for a verdict of not guilty.

Politics was the reason. Burgenland is a new territory cut off from old Hungary, and a verdict in accordance with the evidence might have meant civil war there. As it was, it brought civil war in Vienna.

At the beginning the revolution was quiet. It seemed spontaneous. Bands of workmen and women began parading through the streets, shouting "down with the prostitute of justice" and shaking their fists at everyone.

At 3 o'clock 10,000 persons by the leading hotels, good natured, laughing and eating sandwiches. There were only two red flags and some crumpled carrying posters of different organizations.

As each group of 100 to 1,000

MAN WHO DIDN'T LIE IS PAROLED

Indianapolis, July 15.—(AP)—George R. Dale, Muncie, Ind., publisher, who for four years has been fighting a 90-day sentence to the state farm for contempt of the Delaware circuit court, today was paroled by Governor Ed Jackson on recommendation of the trustees of the farm.

Dale, however, will be required to pay a fine of $500 and costs assessed against him along with the 90-day sentence, and must be inducted into the institution for a nominal period before the parole can become effective.

A parole instead of an outright pardon will keep the Muncie editor under jurisdiction of the farm trustees during the duration of the parole after which, if custom is followed, an outright pardon is likely to be issued.

Dale was sentenced for contempt by Judge Clarence W. Deane because of statements published in his weekly newspaper, The Muncie Post Democrat, in which Dale declared juries in Judge Deane's court were not properly picked. The editor also asserted the Ku Klux Klan wielded undue influence over city and county officials.

The Indiana supreme court where it first was dismissed because of a technical flaw and later was withdrawn by Dale's attorneys. The transcript was received from Washington Wednesday and but for today's action the editor would have been required to start serving sentence within a few days.

Today's parole apparently brings to a close one of the most bitterly fought cases in the records of Indiana courts. It was a direct outgrowth of this that caused impeachment proceedings to be brought against Judge Deane before the Indiana senate last March. Judge Deane, charged with high crime and corruption, was acquitted but testimony brought out at the trial indicated irregularities in selecting names for jury service.

Charge by Cavalry. The editor, who was charged down the ring towards the opera while the mobs stood cursing the stricken, half-naked militiaman.

In the wake of the cavalry came furious individuals who had occupied damage. Some carried sticks and stones and knives. Your correspondent had taken refuge in a deep doorway but now went up the street to see the cavalry leave. Two men immediately seized me. One had a farmer's sickle, which he placed at my throat, yelling something in a peasant dialect which I could not understand.

This was lucky for me because he had threatened to cut my throat. Twelve others gathered around and stopped him, shouting: "Let him alone—he is a foreigner."

Somewhat perspiring, I went towards the palace of justice, where 10,000 quickly gathered. Led by women and boys, the mob stormed the palace, driving the pale-faced bureaucrats quickly off the streets.

"Down with the prostitute of justice," the mob shouted, while then they overran the buildings and soon shattered the windows.

Frantic women with hair strung like you see in movies of the French revolution appeared at the windows. Let him alone—he is a foreigner. They threw to the mob and then followed thousands of single legal documents.

Bonfire Is Started. The mob shouted with joy. Someone struck a match, gathered up some of the papers, and started a bonfire on the palace steps. Others started smaller bonfires in the street but when a big blaze rewarded those on the palace steps, everyone cheered and concentrated on this fire, which soon soared up the marble pillars three stories high.

But this only whetted the mob's appetite. A new group entered the building and started throwing desks, chairs, documents and cabinets into the streets, all of which augmented the fire. Then another mob entered the building and started a fire on the inside. When the first column of smoke, followed by big flames burning the documents, broke through, there was tremendous jubilation in the streets.

There was no trace of police or cavalry now. But suddenly there was heard the tooting of horns and firemen arrived opposite the natural history museum. The mob on the outskirts, however, refused to make way. The firemen halted. The mob threatened to kill them if they interfered with the fire.

Mob Storms Palace. The mob stormed the palace exactly at noon. At 1 o'clock the firemen came and then half an hour later the firemen's hook and ladder equipment arrived. Then came a strange looking group, about 500 clean clad men, carrying sticks and signs reading, "workingmen's police guard." These people were supposed to quell disorders among their own people, and they were received with cheers.

Every quarter of an hour some small disturbance showed the mob's flight. Each time there was a panic which flooded the museum's neatly trimmed lawns. This resulted in numerous accidents and beat prostrations.

Then an hour later there rained shots. They sounded like machine gun fire, or concentrated rifle fire. The militia had re-formed. They had received aid from the outskirts and had marched around the parliament building. They were charged furiously. At the sound of the firing 30,000 people began the wildest race I have ever seen. It was like the days of the Kapp putsch in Berlin. Children were trampled.

"The devil take the hindmost" was the slogan.

Everybody Runs. Thousands ran helter-skelter in every direction away from the sound of the firing. Someone's ice cream cart was overturned. A legless war veteran's wheel chair was driven against the wall and upset, but nobody cared. Your correspondent ran with the crowd, skirts mingled with the rifle fire. Making my way around the public buildings, I came to the other side of parliament and walked behind the charging cavalry to find the grounds strewn with dead and dying, an overturned fruit stand and blood mingled with the dirt and debris.

REDFERN TO PILOT 'PORT OF BRUNSWICK'

Detroit, July 15.—(AP)—Paul R. Redfern, 25-year-old aviator, who will take off for Brunswick, Ga., for a 4,300-mile "Brunswick-to-Brazil" flight, probably the longest light ever undertaken, will christen his plane "Port of Brunswick," he announced today.

The plane is now under construction in the factory of the Stinson Aircraft corporation here, and probably will be christened July 21 or 22, Redfern said.

Mrs. Eugene W. Lewis, Detroit, wife of the president of the Industrial Bank of Detroit, will christen the plane at a public ceremony to be held at Ford airport, according to present plans. Following the christening, Redfern will take off for Brunswick, where he will spend a week, before there about August 1 for the long flight.

The flight will carry Redfern over 1,000 miles of water, and 2,000 miles of land, and will occupy what has been estimated at about two days and nights of flying. The route will take him from Brunswick over Porto Rico, over the Caribbean sea and into the Brazilian interior, then across mountains to his final destination, Rio de Janeiro.

ON DEATH'S BRINK PLEADS FOR NEGRO

Elkay Prison, Montgomery, Ala., July 15.—(AP)—Life imprisonment will be full and adequate punishment for Hays Leonard, negro, for his part in the murder of Judge Lamar Smith, Clyde Reese Batchelor wrote. Governor Graves last night before going to his room in the electric chair. He was executed this morning. Batchelor wrote the governor that he wanted to accept full and entire responsibility for the murder because the negro was a tool in his hands.

The letter read in part: "On the eve of my execution for the murder of Judge Smith, my father-in-law, I wish to state to you the following facts concerning Hays Leonard, the negro who fired the actual shot that took the life of Judge Smith."

"Leonard is of very low mentality, a negro who would do anything that the white man for whom he worked told him to do. You are familiar with the type. I have favored him in various ways for about a year prior to the killing of Judge Smith, and he naturally felt that he had to do whatever I told him to do."

"I do, however, want to take full and entire responsibility for the murder of Judge Smith. While I realize that even though he did this under my influence, pressure and demand, he is to some extent guilty and should be punished for his act, but I am honest and sincere when I say that I feel that life imprisonment would be full and adequate punishment for him and for me, by so doing I know that the ends of justice will be served, as this is my responsibility, and my sin, and this is the last request I will make of you."

Reiterating my request that you pray for my father and mother and assuring you that I have no hard feelings toward you and that you will grant my request with regard to Hays Leonard.

"I am, yours sincerely, "CLYDE REESE BATCHELOR" Leonard is being held in the Montgomery county jail under sentence of death pending an appeal before the

COURTNEY STARTS TESTS OF PLANE

BY CAPTAIN FRANK T. COURTNEY, (Special Cable to The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Copyright, 1934, by the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc. In Great Britain by the Westminster Gazette.)

Calshot Naval Flying Base, England, July 15.—I flew on preliminary tests for three-quarters of an hour this afternoon and with the exception of a few minor adjustments everything is extremely satisfactory for the trans-Atlantic trip. We made an excellent take-off and watched very carefully the action of the various parts of the Marconi direction finder and the engine. We attained a top speed during the flight of 128 miles an hour and at one time we flew as low as 200 feet, although during the actual test period the machine was flying at an altitude of a thousand feet.

The Vickers-Reid control indicator, which I'll depend greatly during the actual flight, worked very well during today's test. The wireless aerial appeared to be satisfactory and I found that the apparatus installed inside the cockpit worked steady and easily. The after engine was perfect but the forward engine needs a few minor adjustments. Tomorrow we are going to continue the preliminary tests.

Fitzgerald, Ga., July 15.—(Special) Mr. Charles F. Greek was fatally injured when a car driven by Cley Ellis struck her as she stepped from the sidewalk near the Fitzgerald cotton mill about 6 o'clock Thursday evening. Her husband and a number of employees of the mill were eye-witnesses and stated that the accident was unavoidable on the part of the driver of the car, who is reported to have been driving at a moderate speed.

She was taken to the local hospital by Mr. Ellis and her husband, but died shortly afterward.

She is survived by her husband and one son, Joe Greek, Jr., of Griffin.

BRENNAN STATES SMITH WILL WIN

New York, July 15.—(AP)—The name of Governor Alfred E. Smith will be the only one before the democratic national convention, in the opinion of George Brennan, Illinois democratic leader. Brennan expressed his opinion at a luncheon given him and four other political leaders today by James J. Hoey, Governor Smith's last campaign leader.

"We met to discuss insurance," Brennan prefaced his remarks. "Governor Smith is the outstanding figure of the party. He's so far in the lead that I doubt if any other will even be considered."

Asked if the governor would be "wet" or "dry," Brennan added: "The campaign is a year away, but whatever stand Smith takes will be mine. I don't know whether we will bring a solid delegation from Illinois. We seldom have one."

Others at the luncheon were James A. Beha, state superintendent of insurance; Charles A. Douglas, prominent in international law practice in Washington; former Congressman Timothy Amesbury, of Delaware, Ohio, who took a prominent part in the campaign of James M. Cox, and Joseph P. Tumulty.

Dull, Tired Feeling

"I WAS very much run-down in health," says Mrs. J. E. Shelley, of Whitney, Texas. "My back and sides hurt pretty much all the time. I had a dreadful ache across the middle of my back, which made it feel like it was coming in two. Sometimes a sharp pain would start up and down my spine."

"I had a dull, tired feeling and I dreaded the thought of having to do my household tasks. It just seemed to me that I did not have strength enough to drag one foot after another. I was tired when I got up in the morning. I got no rest from my sleep and I was sleepy all day long."

"One day I read about how Cardui had relieved other women of troubles like my own. My husband got a bottle of Cardui for me. It was not long before I began to show a decided improvement. My strength began to return and I felt much more like my normal self. The sleepy spells gradually quit and the pains in my back and sides disappeared. No longer did I mind my work, for I went at it with new strength and vigor."

MRS. JOSEPH T. DERRY, EX-ATLANTAN, PASSES

News of the death of Mrs. Joseph T. Derry, 83, former resident of Atlanta, who died early Friday at the home of her son, Dr. Henry Derry, in Mason, has been received here. Funeral services for Mrs. Derry will be held today at noon in Mason from the Derry home.

Mrs. Derry moved from Atlanta about 10 years ago and for several years had lived with her daughter, Mrs. T. C. Parker, in Jacksonville. She was a native of Augusta and before her marriage was Miss Elizabeth Osborne.

She was the widow of the late Joseph T. Derry, prominent educator in Georgia and at one time holder of a responsible position in the department of commerce and labor at the state capital. He died about two years ago. He was an excellent leader in the instruction at Wesleyan college, Macon, and had taught school in Atlanta at Woodberry Hall and was said to have been an instructor of President Woodrow Wilson, who the latter attended Richmond academy in Augusta.

She is survived by two sons, Dr. Henry Derry, of Macon, and George Derry, of Philadelphia; a daughter, Mrs. T. C. Parker, of Jacksonville; a brother, Derry B. Osborne, of Atlanta, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

County Declines To Allot $25,000 To Landing Field

Giving the county's present financial condition as their reason, members of the public works committee of Fulton county commission Friday declined the request of William B. Hartsfield, chairman of the municipal public works committee, to allot $25,000 to match a like amount already allocated by the city, for expansion and improvement of the city's landing field.

In making his petition to the commissioners, Mr. Hartsfield pointed out that Augusta has recently appropriated $10,000 for a similar purpose, that Buffalo, N. Y., has allotted $700,000 and Baltimore will vote shortly on a special bond issue of $1,500,000 to be devoted to the expansion of aviation and its landing field. Replying to Mr. Hartsfield's request the commissioners stated that owing to the present condition of the county's finances they could make no promise of aid for the coming fiscal year.

15-YEAR-OLD GIRL MAKES 7,500-MILE JOURNEY ALL ALONE

Although only 15 years old, Miss Mary Turner, of Jacksonville, is now on her way to Europe on a 7,500-mile journey made from the interior of China, all alone. She passed through Atlanta Friday morning on the Dixie Limited on her way to a Florida city.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Turner, of Jacksonville, her father being an importer of that city. When passing through Atlanta the young traveler showed no signs of nervousness and had every appearance of being able to take care of herself anywhere. She arrived in Vancouver on board the "Empress of Russia," on July 10, and came overland by way of Chicago. She described the long journey as being in no way complicated, saying, "I just got on a ship or a train and stayed there until time to get off."

DETROIT POLICE ORDERED TO BAR PARADE OF KLAN

Detroit, Mich., July 15.—(United News.)—Every policeman in Detroit has been ordered to report for duty at 9 a. m. Saturday to prevent a parade of Ku Klux Klan members from the state fair grounds to downtown Detroit past the Ford Motor company Highland Park plant.

Police Commissioner Rutledge said he had received authentic reports from secret sources that the Klan planned to parade without a permit. He dispatched several armed squads, joined with riot guns and tear bombs to two police stations nearest the fair ground.

Reliable Optical Service

After your oculist has scientifically examined your eyes for glasses, you should be as careful in the selection of your glasses as you were in the selection of your oculist. There are many patients sadly disappointed in their glasses, and lay all the blame on their oculist, when in many cases the fault is in the material and workmanship furnished by the oculist. It requires just as much knowledge and skill to make a pair of glasses correctly as it does to make a correct examination of the eye.

Ask your oculist about us and our reliability. If you do not already know.

MORAL: Have your prescription for glasses filled at Ballard's. Two reliable, exclusive optical stores. No side lines.
